

New Product of the Year | Meluka Australia Organic Apple Cider Vinegar infused Raw Honey Bungawalbin Valley, New South Wales

Consumers seeking the health benefits of traditional apple cider vinegar without the acidic burn can now enjoy the taste by taking award-winning Meluka Australia's Organic Apple Cider Vinegar Infused Raw Honey.

Winning the New Product of the Year Award at the Australian Organic Industry Awards, this new product hails from the pristine rainforests of Bungawalbin Valley in northern New South Wales and is made with 100 per cent organic raw honey and organic apple cider vinegar with the mother.

Meluka Australia Chief Executive Officer, Ben Rohr, said it was a great honour and privilege to win the Award, with employees core to the company's success.

"We are a little homegrown brand that started operations in 2018 and given all the other renowned brands in the market, this win is very humbling," Mr Rohr said.

"The Award really acknowledges our team for their hard work in creating and producing a high-quality organic product.

"They are passionate about the industry and in delivering high quality, delicious and locally sourced products to delight and support the health and wellness of our consumers."

Meluka Australia's Organic Apple Cider Vinegar Infused Raw Honey combines all the natural enzymes, acids and gut-friendly bacteria found in organic apple cider vinegar and the delicious prebiotic and antioxidant goodness of organic raw honey.
